PRIVACY POLICY

St. Thomas' Anglican Church is committed to developing policies, procedures and services that maintain your right to privacy. We hold personal information about donors, attendees and volunteers in order to meet and maintain the highest level of service to those individuals. This information can include your name, address, birth date, and email address, along with volunteer and donation records. We obtain this information directly from you, either in written or verbal form for the following purposes:

- To meet legal and regulatory requirements for running a charitable organization
- To be able to disseminate tax receipts and other pertinent information
- To communicate with you important details about the life of St. Thomas' Church and the Anglican Communion (i.e. the Anglican Journal newspaper)

You have the right to know what personal information we have in our archives. If you have any questions regarding the acquisition, storage, security and usage of your information, please contact the Rector of St. Thomas' Anglican Church at 613-962-3636. We will not sell or give personal information to any other organization for any purpose.

By registering as a volunteer or donating to St. Thomas' Church, you automatically consent to the use of your information for purposes directly pertaining to volunteering or finance.
